REM-Pledge™

Remee Wire & Cable

provides the customer care and quick decision-making normally associated with a family operated company. Yet, Remee is ranked among the top wire and cable manufacturers, and large enough to manufacture a huge selection of quality standard cables, modified standard and custom engineered cables, including a unique capability to provide very complex cable constructions. This attribute is typically associated only with large companies...

Remee is the Exception!

REM-Pledge is our way of adding proof and accountability to our promise of providing extraordinary personalized service and care. We pledge to provide the greatest customer care possible and, if you are not satisfied in any way, let us know about your situation. See our website for contacts.

Why Buy from Remee?

Our distinct capabilities and unique attributes set us apart from others:

Service

- Family run company - quick, nimble and able to make fast decisions; access to top executives.
- Customer service is outstanding – (a 12 out of 10); personal attention is unequalled. This includes a customized and very competitive MOQ, short orders, as well as volume orders, and flexibility in meeting demanding delivery requirements. Current Remee performance metrics are posted on our website.

Product

- Remee accommodates extraordinarily complex, as well as custom, orders. We are specialists in complex constructions – plenum, composites, hybrids, siamese, etc.
- As a family run company, Remee is also unique with our ability to provide the huge breadth of cables we offer, with standard cables, modified standard and custom engineered cables.

Channel

- Remee provides the customer a choice in obtaining their product, which includes various types of sales channel partners and other value alternatives. Our customers drive this decision.

Company.

Complex Cable Configurations

Remee has the engineering expertise, the manufacturing capabilities and the right equipment to make very complex cable constructions.

We're specialists in manufacturing siamese cable, composite cable, hybrid cable, bundled cable, messengered cable and PoE (Power over Ethernet) cable.

We utilize a broad range of insulation and jacketing materials to modify standard cables or for use in our custom cable designs.

- PVC
- FEP
- CPE
- Crosslink Polyethylene
- Polyurethane
- Foam Polyethylene
- Polyethylene
- Tefzel
- Zero Halogen
- PVDF
- TPE
- Foam FPE

Remee also has a variety of other materials to manufacture the custom-made cables you need:

- Armor – steel tape or interlocked aluminum
- Shielding – foil, braid
- Conductors – solid, stranded, high strand and tinned copper

Custom-Made Cables

Remee designs custom-made cables for customers on a regular basis, as our customers know we have a unique capability in creating special and complex constructions as part of our custom cable services. If modifications to standard cables won't be sufficient, our expert engineers will design the right custom cable for you.

Modified Standard Cables

We can often modify one of our many standard cable designs to meet specific customer requirements and avoid the higher costs of developing a custom cable product.

Here is a sampling of the types of modifications Remee can provide:

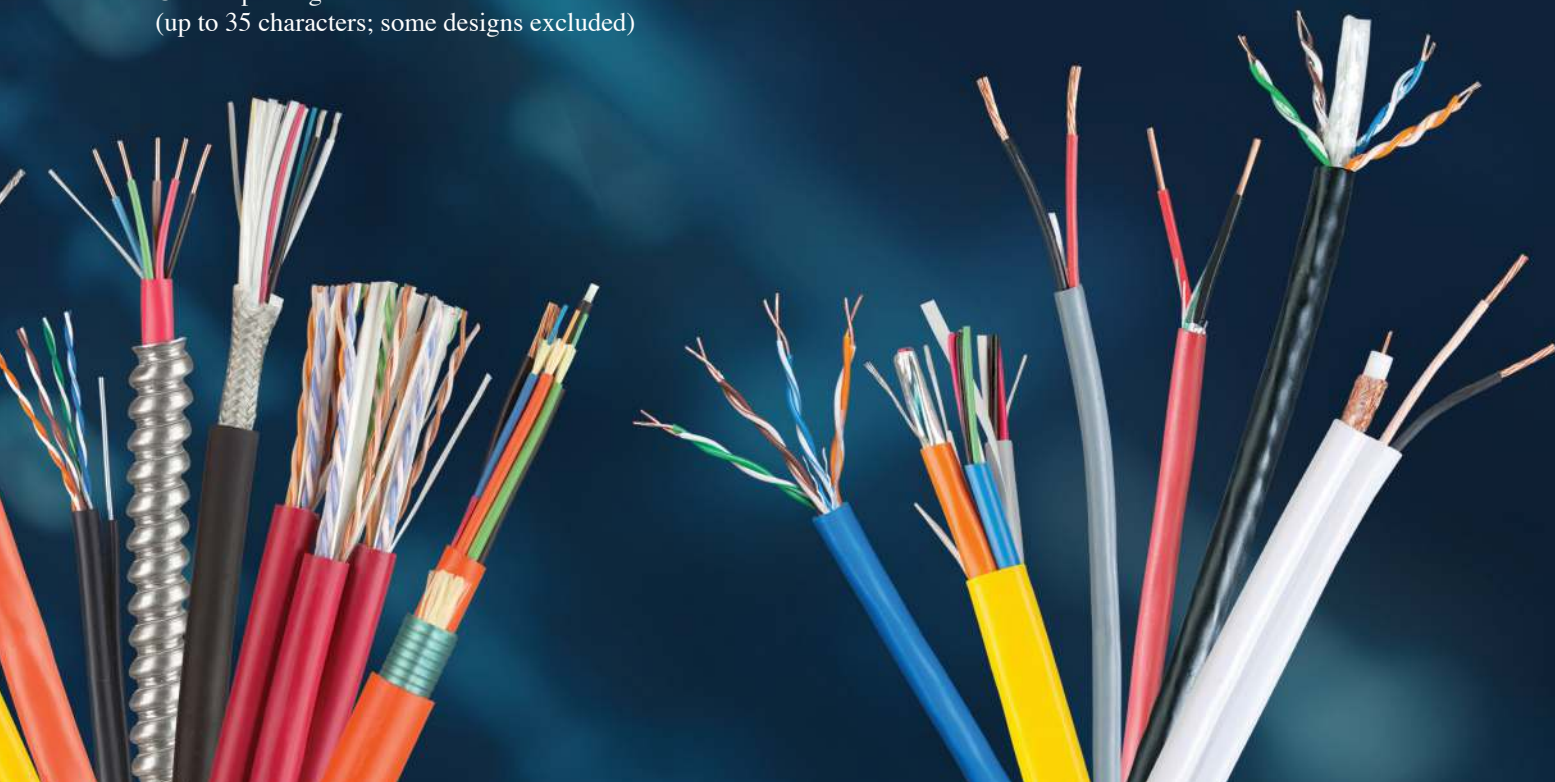

- Special jacketing materials
- Adding layers of shielding – foil and braid
- Adding strength members
- Non-standard jacket colors
- Non-standard insulated wire colors
- Bundled cable - bundling of multiple cables under one jacket
- Special length put-ups
- Altering a standard dielectric size or mil thickness of a jacket
- Custom printing
(up to 35 characters; some designs excluded)

Standard Cable Offerings

Remee's dedication to excellence in engineering, manufacturing and high quality-control standards apply whether the products are custom - made cables or standard stock items. We are large enough to handle high volume orders, yet small enough to provide quick turn-around delivery and develop customized products with special attention.

Here is a list of our standard cable offerings:

- Coaxial
- Control, Security & Audio Cables
- Cord Products
- Fiber Optic Cables
- Fire Alarm Cables
- Home Automation/Multimedia Cables
- LAN & Premise Copper Cables
- Outside Plant & Mining Copper Cables

Engineering & Manufacturing Expertise

Remee's ability to modify standard products, design and manufacture custom and complex cable constructions, as well as to manufacture standard stock items, is a result of having strong engineering depth and broad manufacturing capabilities.

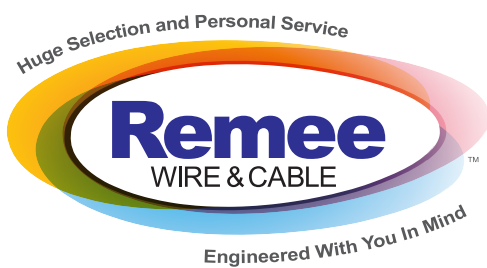

Our dedicated engineering staff members are experts in cable product development and manufacturing processes. The Remee Engineering Team provides Product Development Engineering services, as well as Process Engineering services.

The breadth of Remee manufacturing capabilities is astounding! We make everything from simple insulated wire to complex composite hybrid cables.

The manufacturing capabilities at Remee include the following:

- Drawing copper conductors
- Braiding
- Insulation & jacket extrusions
- Shielding application
- Cabling wires or cables
- Special put-ups
- Packaging
- Shipping
